The loss of a pet can be truly heart-breaking. At Resting Waters, we know first-hand what a difficult time this can be, which is why we are committed to delivering a compassionate service to assist you through your grief.

ABOUT WATER CREMATION

Water cremation is the gentle and environmentally friendly alternative to traditional fire cremation.

Water cremation (Alkaline Hydrolysis) uses 95% warm water and 5% alkaline, using the same natural chemical that is used in some eco cleaning products as well as many personal hygiene products

The solution gently washes over your pet's body as they lay in their own separate stainless steel chamber.

The process mimics the natural decomposition process, compressed into 20 hours, reducing the body to its natural form in water by breaking the bonds between chemicals in the cells, reducing them to their base nutrient elements.

Water cremation is the most environmentally friendly method of disposition, with energy requirements that are drastically less than that of fire-based cremation.
